Vegetarian cuisine Vegetarian cuisine differs from vegan cuisine, which excludes all animal products including dairy and eggs. Vegetarian cuisine meets vegetarian standards. Indian Vegetarian cuisine, also known as plant-based cuisine, is a style of cooking defined by the inclusion of grains, legumes, nuts, vegetables, fruits, dairy, and sometimes eggs, and by the exclusion of meat and animal tissue products (such as gelatin or animal-derived rennet). Indian desserts and sweets are mostly vegetarian like peda, barfi, gulab jamun, shrikhand, basundi, kaju katri, rasgulla, cham cham, rajbhog, etc 485033e9f6

Comment I don't currently have the time to read through and critique the entire article, but my early impressions are that it is quite excellent. However, a couple of issues: first, while there are oodles of references, the lead has only one reference; even if these points are sourced later in the article, there should still be footnotes in a lead which makes many claims (such as that most of the important writers on Earth met at her home). Second, there are about a dozen redlinks, and some redlinks occur multiple times; if someone is important enough to link to (especially if they're notable enough to link to twice), either write a stub about them (assuming they pass WP:Bio) or delink them. Those concerns aside, I could very well support this candidate once I can undertake a more thorough reading of the article. -- Kicking222 14:42, 18 October 2006 (UTC) 485033e9f6 23:18, 31 Mar 2004 Texture deleted "Caucasian Chalk Circle" (content was: 'Yes thank you Brecht for enlightening us.') 485033e9f6 23:58, 31 Mar 2004 Texture deleted "Daniel C.
