Noah S. Sweat The speech gave rise to the phrase if-by-whiskey. against it. But, if when you say whiskey you mean the oil of conversation, the philosophic wine, the ale that is consumed when good fellows get together, Noah S. (October 2, 1922 – February 23, 1996) was an American judge, law professor, and state representative in Mississippi, notable for his 1952 speech on the floor of the Mississippi state legislature concerning whiskey. The speech is renowned for the grand rhetorical terms in which it seems to come down firmly and decisively on both sides of the question while taking a moderate stance. Reportedly the speech took Sweat two and a half months to write. "Soggy" Sweat Jr 9d6cf0d5b2 spirit in the world, though a long period of decline from the late 19th century onwards greatly damaged the industry, so much so that although Ireland boasted at least 28 distilleries in the 1890s, by 1966 this number had fallen to just two, and by 1972 the remaining distilleries, Bushmills Distillery and Old Midleton Distillery (replaced by New Midleton Distillery), were owned by just one company, Irish Distillers. The album was the first to be produced by Rob Cavallo. Although bourbon may be made anywhere in the U.S., it is associated with the Southern United States, particularly Kentucky, through a history of advertising bourbon as a product of Kentucky with rural, Southern origins. Thanks to a market shift in the 1990s, it has also become a symbol of urbanization and sophistication, with a large consumer demographic belonging to the middle- to upper-class, including business and community leaders.

Benjamin Prichard's Tennessee Whiskey Under a special grandfathering exemption under a Tennessee law enacted in 2013, the Prichard's distillery in Kelso is the only producer allowed to label its product as "Tennessee whiskey" without using this process. Tennessee Whiskey is a brand of Tennessee whiskey produced in the small community of Kelso, Tennessee, in the United States. Although it is produced by one of only two distilleries operating in Lincoln County – and its

The whiskey brand and distillery were founded by Phil Prichard, who is now the company's master distiller. He named it after his ancestor Benjamin Prichard, who operated a distillery in Davidson County, Tennessee, in the early 1800s, who bequeathed his distilling equipment to his son after his death in 1822.

9d6cf0d5b2 The monopoly situation was ended by an academically conceived launch of the first new distillery in decades, Cooley Distillery, in 1987. Since 1990, Irish whiskey has seen a resurgence in popularity and has been the fastest-growing spirit in the world every year since. With exports growing by over 15% per annum, existing distilleries have been expanded and a number of new distilleries constructed. As of December

2019, Ireland has 32 distilleries in operation, with more either planned or under development. 9d6cf0d5b2 == History == 9d6cf0d5b2 "Whiskey Tango Foxtrot", a season three (2011) episode of The Good Wife 9d6cf0d5b2
