Tom Lehrer, who had written several songs for Children's Television Workshop's previous series The Electric Company, recalled that in 1985, CTW approached him to compose a theme song for a proposed series That's Mathematics. Lehrer obliged, penning lyrics for a series using the melody of Arthur Schwartz's tune for the song "That's Entertainment!" Schwartz's estate and other interests in that song's trademarks and copyrights refused CTW permission to use the song or name, forcing the company back to "square one." (Lehrer would salvage the lyrics and... Over the course of each season, the contestants go on dates with partners determined by competitions (or, in the seventh season only, by the "fate button"), and have the opportunity to learn in the "truth booth" if a given couple is a correct match. Once the truth booth confirms a perfect match, that couple will go to the honeymoon suite and will automatically be paired up for the remainder of the match ceremonies. At the end of each episode, the contestants pair up in a "matching ceremony" and learn how many perfect matches they have, but not which matches are correct. From season 3 onward, the prize was reduced any time that the house failed to identify any matches other than those already confirmed via the truth booth.
