The same year, it also won the Grammy Award for Best Male Pop Vocal Performance. "Can You Feel the Love Tonight" is a song from Disney's 1994 animated feature film The Lion King composed by British musician Elton John with lyrics by Tim Rice. It was a number-one hit in Canada, France and Panama. With John's version released as a single in May 1994, by Hollywood, Walt Disney and Mercury Records, the song was a hit in the UK, peaking at number 14 on the UK singles chart, and achieved success in the United States, reaching number four on the Billboard Hot 100.

Traffic lights were first introduced in December 1868 on Parliament Square in London to reduce the need for police officers to control traffic. Since then, electricity and computerized control have advanced traffic light technology and increased intersection capacity. The system is also used for other purposes, including the control of pedestrian movements, variable lane control (such as tidal flow systems or smart motorways), and railway level crossings. DeYoung wrote "Why Me" at a time that he was depressed. He stated that "What I was saying was, why does this keep happening to me? I'm supposed to have it made, but I feel just like you do." Although baseball is not mentioned in the song, the song was inspired by an incident in which DeYoung was hit in the head with a baseball at practice for a local league. At a concert in Chicago in 1980, DeYoung further explained the song as "Do you ever get the feeling that no matter what you do, somehow or some way it's going to end up messed up? Every time I think I've got my life in order so that I know where I'm going and I know what I'm doing, it turns around and kicks me square in the rear. That's when I ask: Why me?" The song was the group's biggest success since their 1985 hit "Walking on Sunshine". It peaked within the top five of the charts in Austria, Ireland, Norway, the Netherlands, Sweden, and the United Kingdom. In 2022, it was named the best UK Eurovision entry by The Daily Telegraph.
