As of December 2025, Reddit is one of the most-visited websites in the world. According to data provided by Similarweb, 51.75% of the website traffic comes from the United States, followed by Canada at 7.01%, the United Kingdom at 6.97%, Australia at 3.97%, Germany at 3%, and the remaining 28.37% split among

While searching on the internet about Hodgkin's lymphoma I found on wikipedia an article saying that one of the risk factors is "Prolonged use of human growth hormone". I kept searching clicking on "human growth hormone" and found maybe a relation between GHB abuse and lymphoma. Why isn't this mentioned? Am I wrong, has someone studied about this?

I feel the conduct of this admin on the Terror Bombing and History of Terrorism has been inappropriate for an admin. On terror bombing he frequently deleted any additions that didn't fit his personal perspective despite overwhelm consensus for such edits on the talk page. On History of Terrorism he has recently presented himself as a neutral admin however he has previously supported the disputed version that he seeks to lock down, As such I feel he is not approaching the issue with clean hands.

Similarly I find his attempt to block anonymous editors who have made substantial and useful contributions to the page also very dubious as it seems simply trying exclude those he disagrees with. I am extremely concerned by his conduct and would appreciate a more expert eye applied to it. Sherzo (talk) 11:08, 21 December 2009 (UTC)

When I heard about GHB, 10 years ago, it was said that there were still no known long-term secondary effects of it's use. But if now it's getting clearer, please inform people. My friend suffers from Hodgkin's lymphoma and he used regularly GHB but he also has Aids. So, where's the connection? Is the lymphoma related to Aids or the abuse of GHB? Are we blaming AIDS for it forgetting the risks of using GHB? and because both diseases have the fact of being gay (aids & lymphome) or a man (lymphome) as one of the risk factors (although to say this is politically incorrect, I apologise, but it's true) aren't we mixing up things and making people believe that GHB has no long term severe secondary effects. Every website I found about GHB doesn't mention this relation, but it mentions it's use as...

Controversial Reddit communities Many such subreddits have been the topic of controversy, at times receiving significant media coverage. out of there and let him that wasn't particularly legal. Journalists, attorneys, media researchers, and others have commented that such communities shape and promote biased views of international politics, the veracity of evidence-based medicine, misogynistic rhetoric, and other socially disruptive concepts. Contrary to popular opinion as well as previous staff practices and statements, Reddit's founders have said they did not intend the platform to be a "bastion of free speech" where online hate speech would be tolerated. But for a period of time, Reddit allowed these controversial communities to operate largely unrestricted. The site's general manager, Erik

Martin, has argued that objectionable material is a consequence of allowing free speech on the site. 0b04edf111 Sherzo, please provide diffs of what you see to be problematic behaviour. Reddit Reddit communities exhibit the echo chamber effect, in which Reddit (RED-it, formerly stylized reddit) is an American proprietary social news aggregation and forum social media platform. Registered users (commonly referred to as "redditors") submit content to the site such as links, text posts, images, and videos, which are then voted up or down ("upvoted" or "downvoted") by other members. Reddit administrators moderate the communities. It is operated by Reddit, Inc. care or lead to dangerous self-medication, such as proposing conducted by subreddit-specific moderators, who are unpaid volunteers. Posts are organized
