== Release == The movement is centered around Black people who wear afro-textured hair in its natural, coiled, or tight, curly state. The word nappy, historically used as a derogatory... These individuals of African descent choose not to relax their hair, allowing it, instead, to grow in its natural texture. To relax one's hair means to use chemicals to straighten it. This can be done professionally, or through a kit purchased at a grocery store for home use. Afro-textured hairstyles can vary and may include the adoption of hair twists, braids or dreadlocks. Not all people that wear their hair naturally will choose to do without all (non-chemical) forms of straightening or styling. Additionally, for many members of the movement, "being natural" does not necessarily indicate a strict adherence to any particular type of product or styling regimen; nor is it exclusively tied to certain social or political beliefs.

Ice Hockey Hair Ice Hockey Hair is an EP by the Welsh alternative rock band Super Furry Animals, released in 1998. The EP's opening song, "Smokin'", was commissioned by British television station Channel 4 for a programme about sloth presented by Howard Marks. The record contains four songs which the band felt did not fit in with either their previous album, 1997's Radiator, or its follow-up Guerrilla. The title track refers to an alternative name for the mullet hairstyle. "Ice Hockey Hair" was later included on 'greatest hits' compilation Songbook: The Singles, Vol 1, issued in 2004, while "Smokin'" appeared on 1998's B-side and rarities compilation Out Spaced.

History The first documented history of the relaxer began with Garrett Augustus Morgan in 1909. His hair straighten cream was found accidentally when trying to find a solution to ease friction on sewing machines in his tailor shop. Morgan tested his cream on a neighboring dog's fur. With the success of the cream, he established G.A. Morgan Hair Refining Company and began selling his product to Black/mixed people.

Human hair color Generally, the more melanin Human hair color is the pigmentation of human hair follicles and shafts due to two types of melanin: eumelanin and pheomelanin. Hair turns gray, white, or "silver" with age. Its tone depends on the ratio of black or brown eumelanin to yellow or red pheomelanin. Some hair colors are associated with some ethnic groups because of the observed higher frequency of particular hair colors within their geographical region, e. The song was remixed again in 1991 with additional instrumental overdubs. Now called "Home Sweet Home '91", it was released as a single with a new video and included on the Decade of Decadence compilation. Originally released on the band's 1985 album, Theatre of Pain, the song was accompanied by a music video which documented the band's undertakings over the course of one or several concerts. Some of the original video was shot in Houston, Texas live at The Summit during the 1985 Theatre of Pain tour. They performed the song twice that night apparently to get more video footage. A radio only promo 12" with the remix was sent to stations, but not released commercially until the 1988 Japan-only EP Raw Tracks. Hair is a common feature of the human body, exhibiting considerable variation in thickness and length across different populations. Hair becomes more visible during and after puberty. Additionally, men typically exhibit thicker and more conspicuous body hair than women. Discrimination based on hair also exists. Blonde women tend to be falsely stereotyped as unintelligent; redheads face vilification; and people with gray or no hair face professional discrimination. Both men and women have visible body hair on the head, eyebrows, eyelashes, armpits, genital area, arms, and legs. Men and some women may also have thicker hair growth on their face, abdomen, back, buttocks, anus, areola, chest, nostrils, and ears. Hair does not generally grow on the lips, back of the ear, the underside of the hands or feet, or on certain areas of the genitalia. ebb9fe539b "The Highlights of 100" was the first Seinfeld episode available on home video, released on VHS in 1995 by food company General Mills. ebb9fe539b
