There's discussion about it possibly being a Grawp sockpuppet at Wikipedia:Requests for checkuser/Case/Grawp#Related parties?, though not that IP. I'm not familiar with Grawp but perhaps you should raise it there? x42bn6 Talk Mess 23:07, 8 February 2008 (UTC) f4eac147a8 == Takakkaw Falls == f4eac147a8 Sniffles walks down a street to a drug store, showing obvious symptoms of the common cold. He enters through the letter box in the door and locates the cold and flu remedies. He finds a bottle that claims to be a cold remedy; small writing at the bottom of the label indicates "Alcohol 125% proof", which he misses as he only reads the top of the label. He opens the bottle, pours some of the mixture into a spoon and drinks it. Getting tipsy, Sniffles makes his way along the shelf and bumps into a box containing an electric razor. The razor comes out of its box and greets Sniffles using a buzzing noise. Sniffles advises the razor of his cold, before sneezing on him. Moments later, the razor also begins to show symptoms of the common cold. f4eac147a8 == Autobots == f4eac147a8

Their main leader is Optimus Prime, but other "Primes" have also commanded the Autobots such as Rodimus Prime. They are constantly at war with the evil Decepticons. In the American cartoon line, the Autobots are the descendants of a line of robots created as consumer goods by the Quintessons. f4eac147a8 Not sure if this is science or philosophy etc but posting here initially until told otherwise. The story languished for a week, was picked up by the UK's tabloid Daily Mail, and then exploded across the Internet, all the while morphing to become even more sensationalistic and titillating. Supposedly respectable newsmagazine TIME, in a regular column titled "It's Science" authored by Megan Gibson, headlined its "report" New Research Shows That Hitler Had Jewish Roots. f4eac147a8

I've had a {{editprotected}} placed on Template talk:Film for over two days now without any response whatsoever. Would someone be so kind as to have a look? Many thanks, Girolamo Savonarola (talk) 00:43, 9 February 2008 (UTC) Predictably, people have started streaming in trying to insert this "breaking news" into Wikipedia. Initially they came from the crazy/evil range of the spectrum, now they're mostly ignorant doofuses taking everything they read at face value. In this they are aided immeasurably by Wikipedia's idiot-friendly policy of "verifiability before truth".

In the series, U.A. High School (ユイハイ, Yūei Kōkō) is a top-ranked academy for training heroes. The school is located atop a forested hill somewhere near Shizuoka Prefecture, Japan. There are four academic tracks, or courses, available to students: Hero, General, Support, and Management. Students who are not accepted into the Hero Course are included in the General Course. However, they can still be transferred into the Hero Course by impressing the faculty at the Sports Festival and by making passing grades. As stated by Class 1-A's homeroom teacher, Shota Aizawa, U.A. does not adhere to traditional school methods and allows their faculty to teach their classes however they like. This includes teachers having the authority to expel students for any reason, no matter how minor.[ch. 5] Students who are expelled can...

As a Catholic priest developing humanist techniques for working on texts, he prepared pioneering new Latin and Greek scholarly editions of the New Testament and of the Church Fathers, with annotations and commentary that were immediately and vitally influential in both the Protestant Reformation and the Catholic Reformation. He also wrote On Free Will, The Praise of Folly, The Complaint of Peace, Handbook of a Christian Knight, On Civility in Children, Copia: Foundations of the Abundant Style and many other academic, popular and pedagogical works. f4eac147a8
