A sad woman stumbles into a gay nightclub and looks at the gay men dancing on the floor. She later goes to the bathroom and slits her wrist. A gay man enters and stops her. He takes her to a doctor. The woman gives the gay man oral sex outside. She proposes a deal of making him watch her for four nights in exchange of money - but he cannot touch her and can only watch her impartially, to make sure he doesn't like women. f5328f1918 Krista Vernoff who helped co-lead the show with Shonda Rhimes in its early years, marked her return as co-showrunner this season with William Harper, having previously left at the end of the seventh season. Rhimes left ABC to produce television for Netflix, and now has a hands-off approach to the show. Despite not being showrunner since its eighth season to run Scandal, Rhimes still signed off each episode's storyline, but this season marked a departure from this. Rhimes explained she only trusted Vernoff to pursue uncharted territory without her. As such, drastic creative changes occurred in the season, with Vernoff retiring Martin Henderson, Jessica Capshaw, and Sarah Drew's characters.
